A Message From Our CEO

Happy New Year! I hope you and your family had a safe and joyous holiday season.

As we start this new year, our mission to promote the health, welfare, and financial well-being of Civilian Feds remains as strong as ever. Despite the pandemic, 2021 represented the strongest year for revenue in WAEPA's history, which benefits the organization and all our members. I am especially proud of the level of service our team provided to WAEPA's members. And I thank our staff, partners, and dedicated Board of Directors for their continued support.

While 2021 continued to present challenges, our resilience has helped us grow in numerous ways. We plan to take all we've learned and continue the momentum into 2022 – creating even more methods to serve Civilian Feds.

I would like to sincerely thank all of WAEPA's members, whether you've been with us for years or are new to our organization. Your dedication to our country is inspiring. We look forward to supporting your mission in 2022.

M. Shane Canfield
CEO of WAEPA

WAEPA's 2022 Scholarship Program

Need help paying for college? WAEPA's 2022 scholarship program is open to eligible children of WAEPA members through February 2, 2022.

This year, up to 80 scholarships are available for full-time study at accredited institutions, including four-year colleges and two-year vocational schools. WAEPA is proud to have awarded over $2 million dollars in scholarships since 2007.
